It passed quite silent beyond in the leatherworld, this book/catalog with the title “Naha Vägi – Eesti nahakunst 1917-2017”, published in 2017 as a marking of the 100 years jubilee to the modern estonian leather art and craft. Its modern history started March 1 1917 when Eudvard Taska founded Tallinn Art Industry School and had bookbinding

and leather art and craft on the timetable. Like that, is it also 100 years of work which have emerged to this jubilee writing. The content exist of 100 works (103!) back from Eudvard Taskas time but the most by artists in ouer contemporary time. A book/catalog of this type is a milestone publication, a marking of a activity you belive , when it comes to a 100 years jubilee,.. should have international interest. But it have not been to see other places than on the Estonian Leather Workers Artists Union's netpage, not on the english version, only on the estonian language page. What this must be to blame?. A reading/looking through the book/catalog show that it's not any reason to modesty and that the book at least also should be visible on the english net page to the Estonian Leather Workers Artist Union. Even if it only have estonian text and by that looks to only be made for the estonian marked. But you should not forget that abroad is it many interested. As will have problem to find the book/catalogue. It's perhaps not any problem for the connoisseurs to find it. But if that is the idea, so is it to think like that, also with on to hide away books and publications . They come more and more like that in the public shadow in the contemporary times development as electronic media have brought. Perhaps this not are a dicussion to bring up concerning a 100 years jubilee book? - Well, this magazin comes quite late with its “Congratulation” to estonian leather art and craft – in its forward looking on to the next 100 years. It's a great book/cataloge as hopefully is to find and to buy for interested on: www.nahakunst.ee
